Flash Flood Fatal To 4

OCOTILLO, Calif. (AP) — A flash flood unleashed by Tropical Storm Kathleen as it tore through the Southwest sent a four-foot-high wall of water surging through this tiny desert town and the surrounding area.

The flooding killed at least four persons, two of them in Ocotillo, and destroyed homes, bridges and railroad tracks. Authorities said they feared the death toll would rise.

"The town was split right down the middle," J. Leonard Speer, sheriff, coroner and marshal of Imperial County, said Friday. "Some people in the north had built homes right near or in a dry wash and when the waters came down, they were just washed away. A lot of homes are gone."

Two residents of this retirement community of 450 persons about 80 miles east of San Diego were confirmed dead. One drowned, the other was killed when the wall of water crushed his house. Another victim drowned in El Centro, about 30 miles east of here, and a storm-related death was reported in Yuma, Ariz., where a man was hit by a falling tree limb. Authorities said they were looking for 10 other persons reported missing, including two railroad employees, some campers and occupants of a car washed away when a bridge collapsed on Interstate 8.

The National Weather Service said the freak disaster occurred when Kathleen, losing force as it raced northeast from Mexico, dumped up to 9½ inches of rain in the San Jacinto mountains a few miles east of here Friday morning. The water was channeled into town through washes, or streambeds, which carry spring runoff from snows but are normally dry this time of year.

The storm also destroyed and damaged homes in the luxurious Palm Desert area and caused flooding in parts of Nevada and Arizona.

Speer said dozens of motorists were stranded in cars in the desert east of here.

Most residents had been warned of the danger of flash flooding and had fled to higher ground when the wave hit.

Early in the day winds of between 80 and 90 miles an hour caused sandstorms in the desert areas.

Rhodes Hurls Gauntlet At Demos

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Insisting that he will not be censored, Gov. James A. Rhodes has thrown the gauntlet down in front of Democratic leaders who want to deny him a political forum Tuesday before the joint legislature.

The simmering dispute between the Republican governor and majority legislators reached new proportions Friday after two top Democrats asked for a private meeting Tuesday with Rhodes.

"There are no provisions in the constitution that give the legislature authority to censor a speech or muzzle a governor," Rhodes told The Associated Press. "We're not for one minute going to permit the two Democratic leaders to censor one line of what I have to say."

The exchange left the matter unresolved one month after Rhodes asked to appear before a House-Senate session to speak on the troubled Medicaid program and inner city problems.

Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-28 Akron, said Democrats were making a "constructive suggestion to meet with the governor to find out, if he were given permission to speak, what he would talk about."

In a two-paragraph letter to Rhodes, Ocasek and House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, again failed to respond directly to Rhodes' request for speaking time Tuesday afternoon. Instead, they asked for a Tuesday morning closed meeting.

Hijacked Jet Heads For European Stops

KEFLAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Croatian nationalists demanding independence from Yugoslavia hijacked a New York-to-Chicago jetliner Friday night, forced it to Canada and then to Iceland, where it landed early today for refueling on its way to London.

After commandeering the plane Friday night, the hijackers directed New York City police to a bomb planted in mid-Manhattan that exploded and killed a policeman.

Icelandic civil aviation authorities said the plane was expected to be on the ground about 45 minutes before taking off for London. It was not clear where the hijackers might take the plane after London.

A U.S. Navy station manned by about 3,000 American servicemen is situated near the airport here. Airport sources said U.S. naval authorities would probably play a key role in any negotiations with the Croatians.

After its takeoff from New York, the skyjacker first diverted the Trans World Airlines Boeing 727 to Montreal and then to Gander, Newfoundland, where they released 33 passengers.

TWA officials in New York City said earlier that the plane carried 92 persons, 85 passengers and a crew of seven. The release of 33 passengers would mean 52 passengers were still aboard the plane. Canadian authorities, however, said there were 54 passengers remaining aboard. They did not give the number of crew members.

Because the jet lacked navigational equipment for the trans-oceanic flight, a long-range TWA Boeing 707 was flown in from New York and guided it to the Keflavik airport.

The half-dozen or so hijackers, who said they had a bomb on the plane, demanded worldwide publication of a plea for Croatian independence. From Montreal, they directed police to a bomb planted in New York City's Grand Central Station. The device exploded as officers tried to dismantle it, killing one officer and injuring three others.

The hijackers warned that another bomb would explode "somewhere in the United States" unless five major newspapers printed in their editions today a 1,600-word communique entitled "Appeal To The American People" and a 2,500-word declaration of independence of the Croatian people.

The newspapers listed by the hijackers were the New York Times, the Chicago Tribune, the Los Angeles Times, the Washington Post, and the Paris-based International Herald-Tribune.

The English-language Tribune, which is distributed in Europe and the Middle East, does not publish on weekends but a spokesman for the paper said today that it would consider publishing a statement by the Croatian hijackers in its Monday morning edition.

Today's New York Times did not contain either the communique or the declaration.

The Chicago Tribune and the Los Angeles Times both published the communique but not the declaration.

The Washington Post said it planned to publish both.

The communique, signed "Fighters for Free Croatia," and the declaration were found with the bomb in a coin locker at Grand Central Station in mid-Manhattan.

Knowledgeable sources in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, said they had not heard of the group previously.

The passengers released by the hijackers in Gander were flown to Chicago via New York.

The flight to Keflavik was expected to take three hours and 45 minutes. The two planes left Gander at 4 a.m. EDT. The Boeing 727 does not have the range (Continued on Page 12)

Police In Pakistan Storm Skyjackers Of Indian Plane

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — Police ended a 21-hour waiting game early today and stormed a hijacked Indian Airlines jet at Lahore airport, capturing six skyjacker and freeing seven crew members who had been held hostage, Foreign Ministry officials said.

The 71 passengers aboard the twin-engine Boeing 737, commandeered while on a domestic flight over India, had been released earlier.

There were no injuries reported among the passengers and crew. But it was not learned immediately whether any of the hijackers or police were hurt.

Pakistani officials refused to discuss the details of the commando-style raid or give the nationalities or other description of the hijackers. But sources in New Delhi said all of them were Asians, and the pilot told reporters the gang's leader spoke Urdu, a principal language on the Indian subcontinent.

The pilot, V.N. Reddy, said the hijackers first demanded to be taken to Libya but then changed their destination to Lahore when he told them his fuel supply was too limited. Government officials here would not divulge the demands made by the hijackers during subsequent negotiations.

The Pakistani Foreign Ministry scheduled a briefing for later today.

According to officials of the two governments, the hijackers took over the plane at pistol point shortly after it left New Delhi's Palam International Airport on a flight for Jaipur at 7 a.m. local time Friday (9:30 p.m. EDT Thursday).

Reddy said he was "hustled into the bathroom of the plane after having touched the control panel of the cockpit, despite the hijackers' orders not to touch the controls."

The copilot, a Capt. Yadav, told reporters the hijackers then turned to him and one hit him on the back of the head with a pistol butt, threatening "to shoot me if I did not follow his instructions."

He said two of the hijackers carried hand grenades. Sources here said they also had rifles.

The hijackers ordered Yadav to circle low over this city, 250 miles northwest of New Delhi, so they could verify it was Lahore. Then they landed.

Long hours of negotiations ensued, involving the Indian ambassador to Pakistan, K.S. Bajpai, and Pakistani Foreign Secretary Shah Nawaz. The gunmen quickly released a West German couple and their child, and several hours later they freed three Indians who were ill.

Late Friday, after continuous bargaining with authorities, the hijackers allowed the remaining 65 passengers to leave the plane, keeping only the seven crew members aboard.

After several more hours of futile negotiations, police raided the aircraft at 5:05 a.m. today (8:05 p.m. EDT Friday).

The crew and passengers, most of whom were Indian, were returned to New Delhi today aboard a second plane.

GENTLE OXEN — In pioneer days, cattle were used as draft animals on the farm. This gentle yoke of oxen stand docilely while children climb over their backs. They will be a part of the continual activities at the Drummond Brothers Farm during Farm Heritage Days, scheduled 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. today and Sunday. The Drummond farm is located on Dennis Road just off Route 316. The Green Farm, the other site for Heritage Days, is located on Thrailkill Road just off Route 762.

Big Hay Packages Good And Bad

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Packaging hay in large, round bales or stacks has captured the interest of a growing number of producers. The equipment it takes to package these huge bales of hay and how to handle them has the farm community buzzing.

In talking with William E. Gill, Extension Agricultural Engineer at The Ohio State University, we learned some of the considerations and precautions producers need to take or be aware of before using this new haymaking system.

The system could fit into beef cow-calf operations because time and labor can be reduced, handling and storage costs in the field are less, and the system eliminates manure hauling, although feed waste is greater than in dry lot feeding, Gill says. Dairymen can use the system because it enables them to harvest faster, with less manual labor, and results in more good quality hay.

One of the major problems is moldy or "tobacco brown" hay and a serious loss in feed value, Gill points out.

Large, round bales have a density similar to conventional, rectangular bales (commonly called square bales). So, the hay should be as dry for the large round as for the "square" bales — around 20 per cent moisture. If hay is stacked, rather than baled, be sure to obtain a "roof" that does not have ridges and valleys.

Where the hay is stored is important, too, Gill says. If bales or stacks are to be stored in one area and moved to another as they are fed, good access in wet weather is essential. Store along a lane or road that permits moving the hay in all kinds of weather.

Allow several feet between stacks or bales for adequate air circulation. If stored too close or touching each other, rain and snow accumulations cause rotting with serious losses. Even under the best conditions, hay stored outdoors develops several inches of "thatch" that sheds the rain but decreases feed value, thus storage loss is 10 per cent or more.

Outdoor storage losses do not justify barn storage for beef cow-calf operations, Gill says. Inside storage is justified for dairymen and sheep producers who require excellent quality alfalfa hay for their animals. Both bales and stacks can be fed by leaving them out in the winter pasture, providing fields are well-drained. But, the number of big bales or stacks available to the cattle should be limited to what they can eat in three to four weeks.

For high yielding hay with a large number of bales per acre from 2 to 3 cuttings, use of an electric fence limits feeding and reduced feeding losses. Where stacks are used, they should be fenced with animals having access to one or more stacks at a time. The number fenced for feeding at one time would depend on the size herd. Stack feeding without racks requires one third more feed.

Dry lot feeding should be on a concrete pad or stoned area. And, feeding in racks greatly reduces feed waste, Gill says.

4-H...People Helping People

County Extension Agent,

4-H Clubs and You-th
Mom, Dad — remember the 4-H Clubs of your youth? Probably many of you were 4-H members and wish your children could belong to it too. But, now you live in the city! Well, it makes no difference — country or city — 4-H Clubs are there; where there are children 9-19 years old and interested adults to advise them.

Are you interested in the youth of your community? Would you like to watch them grow, learn and have fun? Are your children interested in belonging to a club where there is friendship, learning and fun — a chance to succeed — or even fail — with a project of their choosing? Then let's put the YOU-th in 4-H and start a club in your community.

Contact Steve Bartels, Pickaway County 4-H program Assistant, 474-7534, if you would like to be an advisor or help an advisor, and/or if you have children interested in joining 4-H. Clubs organize any time of the year. Do it today!

A 4-H club starts with C, ends with B and makes use of head, heart, hands and health. If you are between ages 9 and 19, you can be a 4-H member and join a 4-H club. The two goals of a 4-H club are to have fun and learn by doing.

You will enjoy learning in 4-H because you participate in activities you choose. Clubs run democratically, and every member's opinion is important. Members discuss plans and make group decisions in meetings. Not everyone in the club must work on the same project, so there are lots of different opportunities.

Clubs vary in size from 5 to 500 members. Some are organized in a neighborhood or school district, others are formed by a group interested in the same subject. All clubs have at least one adult advisor.

Clubs meet in any convenient place that has enough room. A club might meet at a member's home, at an advisor's home, or at a central place like a church, school, or community center. The club members decide where and how often to meet. Some meet every week for a month or two, and others meet once or twice a month all year.

It's Farm Science Review Time

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

It's Farm Science Review time again. September 21 to 23 is the time to catch up on new ideas; time to preview ideas of the future.

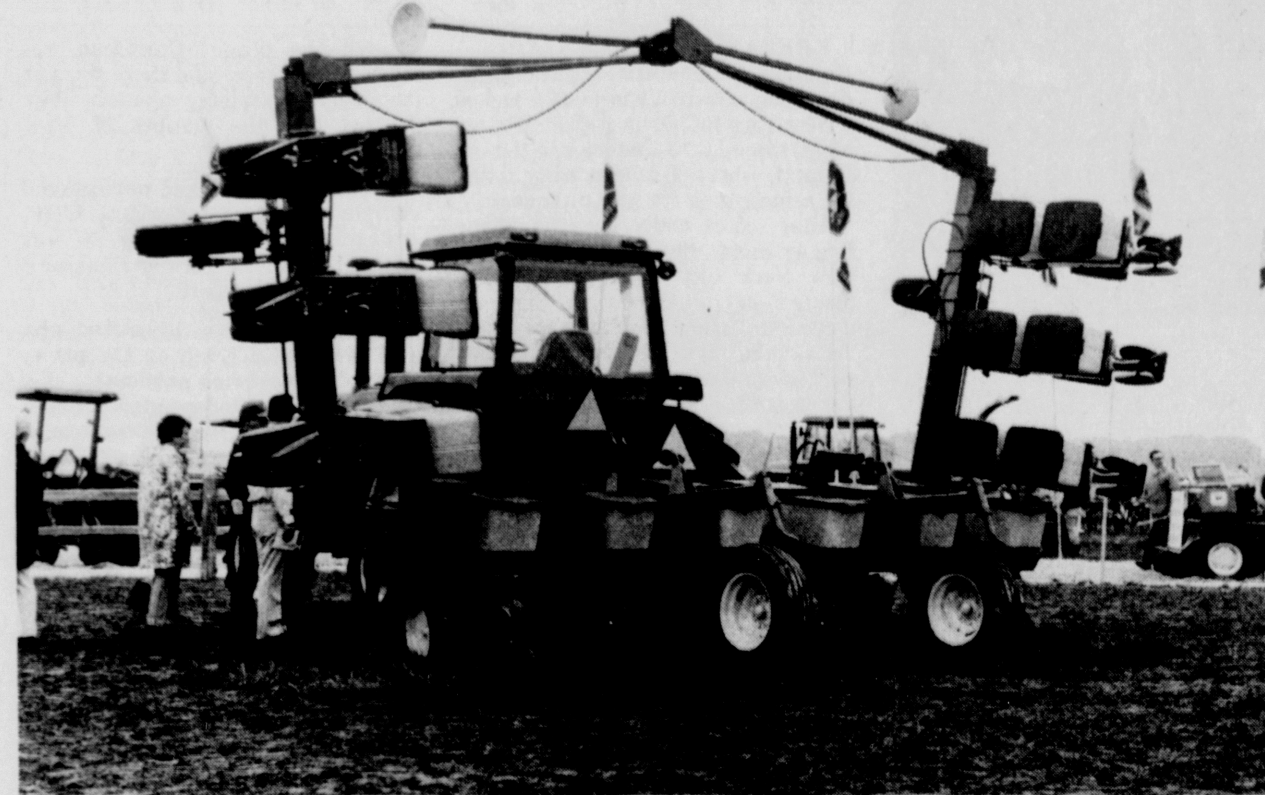

But first, a glimpse of the past. Seventy-five implements of yesteryear tell the story of farming from 1806 to 1923. A colonial garden yields the crops of early America: Flax, open pollinated corn and black soybeans.

Then leap into the mechanization of today as you compare and contrast some $15 million worth of equipment. Plowing, harvesting and other field operations will be demonstrated daily from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m.

Be sure to look over the educational exhibits in the tents. There, you will find hints on harvesting, handling and storing grain. In another — grain marketing: past, present and future. And don't forget, the livestock exhibits are just around the corner.

"Household engineers" can reap bushels of information from the exhibits of the School of Home Economics. Food safety sessions will give an inside look into the nutrition and risks of eating commercially processed foods. And they will give you an alternative by showing how to prepare, preserve and store fresh foods safely.

A display of fire safety will show you how to detect fire hazards in your home. Or, look into a "creative window" to find ways of beautifying your rooms. After browsing through the tents, prepare to relax as you watch the "Bicentennial Parade of Cotton", a style show of First Lady fashions,

MACHINERY DISPLAY — More than $12 million worth of equipment will be on hand showing the newest technology in agriculture for your inspection presented daily at 2:30 p.m.

There are many other things to see, 370 commercial exhibits of equipment and farm supplies will be in the Central Exhibit area. Fifteen departments from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics and the Ohio Agricultural Research Development Center will have exhibits including dry cow management, plant diseases and insects.

Of course, visitors will find free parking and shuttle bus service, and

Heritage Days Scheduled

Have you visited a sorghum mill lately or have you ever watched apple butter bubbling in a copper kettle?

No doubt the answer to both questions is no. It can be Yes if you would like to visit the Farm Heritage Days today or Sunday.

The Rural and Urban Committee of the Pickaway County Bicentennial Committee is again giving you an opportunity to see demonstrations of the many farm and home activities used by our forefathers.

Why not take the family and enjoy such activities as wheat threshing, pony pulling contests, flailing wheat, oxen working, a display of some 50 horse drawn carriages and many antique farm tools no longer used in farming today.

You will also want to see people actually making sorghum molasses, apple butter, butter, cider, candles, quilting, weaving, guns and many displays of Indian Arrowheads.

All this can be seen at the Drummond Brothers Farm about one half mile north of State Route 316 between Five Points and Darbyville on Dennis Road, and at the William Green farm on Thrall Road just off of State Route 762 one mile southeast of Orient.

Signs will be erected to assist you in getting from one farm to the other.

food at reasonable prices.

Getting into the Farm Science Review grounds will be quicker and easier this year. An extra entrance has been constructed on Sawmill Road. This should alleviate much of the build-up from Interstate 270 that has been experienced in recent years, says Dale Friday, Review manager.

Directions to the big farm show remain the same as before — drive from any direction to the I-270 overbelt around Columbus and take the Sawmill Road exit.

Once there, you'll find more exhibitors than ever. Exhibits have been added in the Swine Evaluation Station Grove south of Case Road to accommodate overflow from the Central Exhibit Area. Also, some more Varied Industry booths have been made possible with the construction of a 62' x 100' metal building near the loading dock.

Even though Friday promises three days of beautiful weather, he has had three more exhibit area roads hard surfaced. He recommends bringing your boots, just to scare away any rain showers that may be in the vicinity.

Parking is free at the Review. Admission tickets are $1.50 if purchased in advance from Cooperative Extension Service offices or commercial company exhibitors; they will cost $2.00 at the gate.

The Review is sponsored by the Ohio State University College of Agriculture and Home Economics, the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, and the Ohio Expositions Commission.

1840 Census Included Farm Product Inventory

In 1837, President Martin Van Buren recommended that the 1840 Census be expanded "to embrace authentic statistical returns of great interest." Congress adopted Van Buren's suggestion, and in 1841 the Nation got its first inventory of farm production.

Although the kind of data gathered in 1840 and that gathered now differ vastly, the 1840 data shows that the American farmer did a good job of supplying the Nation with food and fiber, as he does now.

Compared to today's gigantic crops, 1840 farm production looks quite small. For example, corn production totaled 378 million bushels, only 6 1/2 per cent of last year's crop. But then, U.S. population has grown twelvefold since Van Buren's day, when 17 million Americans lived in 26 States and three territories. A fairer comparison takes per capita production into account.

In 1840, farmers grew 22.1 bushels of corn for each person in the United States; last year the figure was 27.2 bushels. Some per capita figures have even diminished since 1840. Farmers grew 6 1-3 bushels of potatoes per capita then. In 1975, farmers grew about 2 1/2 bushels per capita.

The 1840 Census shows some gaps. It neglected to count the number of farms or farm numbers. Some of its figures caused some criticism, however, the census itself was a turning point.

Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor who completed the 1890 Census reported to the Congress in 1900. "The census of 1840 may be said to mark the beginning of a concerted effort to make the decennial enumeration the instrument for ascertaining something beyond the mere number of persons of each sex and of various ages consisting each of the three divisions of population."

Under livestock, the 1840 Census counted: 4.3 million horses and mules, 14.9 million cattle, 19.3 million sheep, and 26.3 million swine. In Ohio there were 430 thousand horses and mules, 1.2 million cattle, 2 million sheep, and 2.1 million swine.

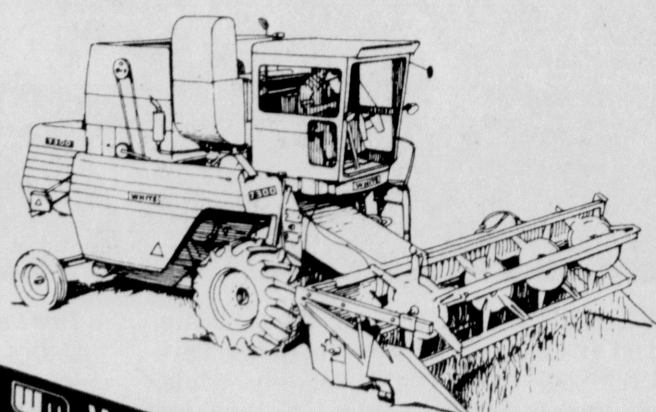

Corn, then as now, led all other grains in bushels grown. In 1840, the Nation produced 377 million bushels of corn, compared to 5.8 billion bushels last year. In 1840 Ohio grew 33.6 million bushels of corn.

In 1840, the Nation's wheat production totaled almost 89 million bushels, compared to 2.1 billion in 1975. In 1840 Ohio grew 16.5 million bushels of wheat. This was more than any other state by some three million bushels.

The 1840 Census noted that Nation produced 35.8 million pounds of wool, 102 million tons of hay, and 219.2 million pounds of tobacco. Ohio accounted for 3.7 million pounds of wool, and one million tons of hay.

Vegetables, Sugar Beets Products Of German Farms

EDITOR'S NOTE: Guy H. Leatherwood and his wife Louise recently returned from a 16-day European Tour. Guy has written articles for the Herald on his travels to Alaska, The Holy Land and Mexico as well as articles on travels in the states. The Leatherwoods live in Ashville.

By GUY H. LEATHERWOOD
We visited a very interesting farm near Heidelberg Germany. About 80 acres are operated by a father, son and their wives. They gross about $20,000 per year but income tax takes about 25 per cent.

They raise vegetables and sugar beets as well as onions. Nematodes have infested the sugar beets and are causing quite a bit of trouble. It takes a lot of effort to get rid of them. A ten year period of not growing beets seems to be the most effective. These people have small tractors of their own but exchange a lot of machinery with their neighbors. They also exchange farm products which decreases their cost of living.

They use some American hybrid onions as they mature earlier. Seed is purchased from Japan and costs $100 for a 2 pound bag. Two pounds will seed an acre. They will produce about 14 tons of onions per acre which they sell for $8 per hundred pounds. The skins of the onions are saved in a container and the Government analyzes them for signs of disease. They cannot return the onion skins to the soil but must burn them. They were in the process of sacking the onions in bags for the market. They had the storage shed well mechanized for the operation.

Grapes are a very important crop in Europe, especially in Germany and France. They generally plant them in May and they require a tremendous amount of cultivation — almost continually. The vines will last about 8 to 10 years.

Germany is probably in better shape economically than any other European country. The inflation rate is very low in comparison and the standard of living has soared and nearly all the damage from World War II has been repaired. But it is sad to think of the cruel division of Germany. About 60 million people live in West Germany. About 18 million people live in East Germany. About 16 million people have fled East Germany to West Germany. As time goes on there is less chance for a reunification of the countries. Communists are considered the No. 1 enemy to the NATO countries. Access to West Berlin is by aircraft. Pan Am flies 28 flights into Berlin, British Airways 12 and Air France 3.

ONION DIGGER — This machine harvests onions, one of the major crops on a farm visited by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Leatherwood during their recent tour of Europe

In 1386 AD Heidelberg University was founded. Although very ancient, it is one of the leading universities of Europe. It is beautifully situated both on mountains and in the valley and the university buildings are scattered around in the city. The country in the area is some of the most beautiful in Germany.

A few interesting facts that I learned about Europe: American politics are watched intently in Europe. $1.10 of the $1.48 per gallon charge on a gallon of gas is for tax. The autobahns are kept in excellent shape for automobile traffic. Practically no advertising can be seen and the trucks are barred from the autobahns on Saturdays and Sundays.

Wheat was still being harvested in Germany.

Augsburg, named after Caesar Augustus, has 66 houses which were built for the poor in 1519. They rented for sixty-eight cents per month then and they still rent for 68 cents per month. This was a gift to the poor by a rich man by the name of Fugger and the tradition has been handed down to this day. They were quaint and interesting.

The story of Field Marshall Erwin Rommel who is considered one of the great generals of all time is essentially true as pictured in the American movie "The Desert Fox." The Nazis gave him the choice of committing suicide or being tried for high crimes.

There is a nice little 11 page booklet available free in quantity, called "Gardening With Saran Wrap." It tells how to keep blooms for flower shows, how to make a mini green house, and other tips. Write the Dow Chemical Company, Inquiry Services, Midland, Michigan 48640.

Also, if you want to study up on your gardening this year, I have a list of "House Plant Sources" prepared by Margaret E. Coon of the OSU Home Horticulture Center. It lists names, addresses of centers which supply all types of catalogs, and the cost and specialty of the catalog. Let me know (474-7534) if you want a copy of this resource list.

As you shop for children's clothing, be a real nit-picker. A few minutes extra attention to construction detail can mean extra months of wear in the clothing purchased. Norma Deyo, Extension Clothing Specialist, recommends you check for the following construction standards.

Short, even stitching are a sign of good workmanship.

Double or triple stitching increases serviceability. Look for smooth finishes even in garments at low prices.

Avoid carelessly put together items; raw seams at some points may rub and chafe tender skin, and so too may bulky, untrimmed seam allowances. Seams should be flat, even in width and finished to prevent raveling.

Hems should be flat, even in width and securely stitched. Fasteners should be firmly sewn or attached to resist tugging and pulling. Look for buttonholes that are firm and closely stitched. Secure interfacing adds to the garment's appearance and ease of care.

All points of strain should be reinforced — placket ends, pocket corners, buttons and buttonholes, knees, elbows and armholes. Flat pockets and trimmings, securely attached, won't catch on furniture and play equipment.

Check the cut of the garment. It will hang well, hold its shape and be comfortable if the cut is on the grain of the fabric. The yarns, or grain, unless designed otherwise, should be straight horizontally and vertically.

Accurate matching of plaids, stripes and checks at seams and other joinings is a sign of quality. Trimming at structural points of the garment, firmly attached, not just tacked on or glued on, also indicates quality.

Don't be alarmed, says Mrs. Deyo, if you can't find all these characteristics in a garment. If the garment is becoming, appropriate and well-fitting, you may still decide to buy it. You may have the time, energy and ability to re-work buttonholes, re-stitch and finish seams, replace fasteners and trims, or to otherwise improve the garment's workmanship.

Most pickle eaters prefer their pickles crisp and firm. They don't like the "wilted" taste of soggy pickles. The ideal way to make crisp and firm pickles is through promptness and care in handling, say Evelyn Gray, Extension nutritionist, and Jean Geisman, professor of horticulture at The Ohio State University.

"When 'pickles' are selected for processing at the proper stage and handled according to directions, a crispness additive is not needed," they explain.

Still, some older recipes call for alum or lime to restore this crispness, and some pickle makers feel they should add such materials. But the recommended product, powdered alum (sold as potassium aluminum sulfate), is not always available. Miss Gray says that some of the substitutes used are not as effective as the alum or are unsuitable for use in food.

Some homemakers, unable to locate alum, have used aluminum ammonium sulfate, which may discolor the pickles as the ammonia escapes.

Other reports tell of people using agricultural lime as a crispness aid. This can be dangerous, says Dr. Geisman. He explains that it may contain impurities that are unsuitable for use in foods. He says that some of the more highly processed limes may be less likely to contain contaminants, but he recommends using alum (2 tablespoons per gallon), if at all possible, or to pickle without the crispness aid.

Both Miss Gray and Dr. Geisman agree that the simplest way to have high quality pickles and avoid using improper additives is to process the pickle produce as soon as possible after harvest.

Shifting Pole

Slowly, the North Pole is moving toward Greenland, at the rate of a few inches a year in this century. So say scientists who watch such phenomenon.

The reason for the shift, apparently, is melting of Greenland's ice. This melting releases water, which is then more or less evenly distributed around the earth and helps to stabilize it—and also to slow down its rotation around its axis.

The principle is much the same as that employed by an ice skater in a spin. The skater draws his arms in close to increase the speed of the spin and flings them out to slow himself down.

Greenland, close to the pole, is also close to the earth's axis. A loss of weight there which is redistributed around the earth would have the same effect as the skater's arms.

Such change is gradual, and it is this fact which is reassuring. Some scientists have theorized that a mass shifting of the ice mass of the earth could cause a cataclysmic tumbling of its axis by throwing the whole works suddenly out of balance.

Those who permit themselves to worry about such things probably will begin to worry about this, despite the fact that such an event is not foreseeable for thousands of years, at the earliest.

For The Sake Of A Bath

By PHYLLIS BATTLELLE
NEW YORK — The "master bathroom" in our house is simple, basic and (when the drains aren't clogged) functional.

Designed in 1952 by master linoleum-layers, its style can best be described as 20th-Century Chippendale. The chipping tiles, and the fixtures, are of a hue known in the home cleaning trade as "cleanser-resistant blue," and all are picturesquely etched with rusted hieroglyphics carved out by a generation of children who once frolicked and bathed here, and long since have gone on. Apparently to careers as sculptors or ax-killers.

After four years of wearing dark glasses to our bathroom, and having to lock its doors whenever company arrived, we have decided to rip it all out and start over. Our friend at Chase Manhattan didn't really think we should, but Bankers Trust finally said okay. So out it will go - everything. Only the cat's litter box will be spared.

What we will put in the place of the current fixtural wreckage is still under debate. I wanted to get "The High Rise Bath" (as featured recently in House Beautiful). It is an elegant, carpeted "island" of four levels surrounding an oversized oval sunken tub, all of this reflected in your basic mirrored walls, backing toilets-for-two, double lavatories and dressing tables and marble shower stall.

My husband rejects this concept as he has a hangup about expanding the bathroom - feeling that the resultant 5-by-18-foot master bedroom might be awkward.

He votes instead for a simple shower and washbasin tucked at one end of the room away from a padded toilet seat with armrests that rocks like a rocking chair and faces a wall of well-stocked bookshelves.

Our son, 14, says that's dumb. What we need is a whirlpool bath with a natural-looking waterfall shower, and equipped with shockproof buttons and dials for controlling the built-in stereo system and color TV.

To help settle the dispute, I sent away for "The Bathroom," a 272-page book of exotically practical ideas by Alexander Kira. It is a fascinating book, revised from an earlier 1966 study of how antiquated baths have been for centuries, that analyzes the social and psychological importance of bathrooms, as well as recommending physical changes.

In our puritan-based society, the bathroom has long been a "taboo" place, designed for "privacy." But all that is changing in the last couple of years, along with "the general loosening of bodily sexual taboos." Use of bathrooms by more than one member of a family at one time is becoming more common. Kira points to "the living bath" as a space and an activity center to be shared by the entire family as a natural part of living, and compares it to the Scandinavian sauna and the Japanese baths. What is a "living bath"? A room equipped with the necessary sanitary facilities but offers much more: "one can find examples today of bathrooms that are treated as family rooms, private sitting rooms, libraries, offices, formal drawing rooms, art galleries, garden rooms, beauty parlors, gymnasiums and so on.

And there are bathtubs big enough to allow the whole family to bathe together (5' x 7'). All are contoured for relaxing. Lavatory sinks, recommended by Kira, could be larger and shaped like a guitar, with a shallow end for resting the elbows and a deep end for washing face or hair - with the water rising, fountain-like, from the deep end. (Look, Ma, no spigots!)

Instead of changing the basic design and concept of their bathrooms, the author (also an architect) notes that most people just purchase new bath accessories from the growing hordes of "bath boutiques" in America - a substantial portion of whose products can best be termed "decorative schlock." And, Kira writes, whereas we tend to think of the bathroom as private, "it can also be one of the most public places in the home, since guests can lock themselves in and peek and probe to their hearts' content. Indeed, some status-conscious individuals who are sensitive to this possibility have been known to take great care to patronize the 'right' physician and the 'right' pharmacy" - so even their prescription medicines will be of high status.

I blushed to read that much of this bathroom decor, right down to the high-class Rx's, may be the result of the fact that in America it has been considered "the natural birthright and exclusive prerogative of the female sex" to design the bathrooms. Fashion designer Bill Blass recently noted that for years a full half of the population has been totally ignored in the important matter of bathrooms - and argued for a more classic, if not masculine, approach to the whole business.

That did it. We have abandoned the notion of "The High Rise Bath," and I've even put away my dreams of a candelabra dripping wax on the bidet. It's all up to my husband and son now as to how the bath will be... but I insist they keep the books to those of high moral tone, and on the stereo, no hard rock during shampoos.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is it possible for a biopsy to be negative at one time and positive at another? This happened to my father and caused him great anguish.
Mrs. K. R., Kan.

Dear Mrs. R.:

I found your letter particularly intriguing because it demonstrates special integrity on the part of a physician or surgeon involved in such an experience. All of us in the practice of medicine arrive at what is known as "clinical judgment" about a problem such as a tumor that is visible on examination.

Although we do not prejudice the nature of the tumor before the tissue is studied in the laboratory, by experience we tend to form a tentative conclusion.

We have all had the experience when a biopsy report shows that the tissue study is not compatible with our own judgment. If there is a marked disparity between our judgment and the microscopic report, we do the following: Doctors may ask the pathologist or tissue specialist to re-examine the specimen to confirm his impression.

Sometimes the pathologist may request the surgeon to take some more tissue from another area in the hope that it will more conclusively show the cells that make his diagnosis more exact. Apparently this is what happened in your father's case. It illustrates the fact that no one takes for granted any report without questioning it and substantiating it.

Had your doctor accepted the first report, everyone might have gone along in the belief that no real trouble existed. Your doctor's persistence undoubtedly is responsible for the fact that now your father can be treated for an existing condition which might have been overlooked even in the light of excellent medical attention.

I have reached the age of 66 and now have Medicare insurance. In addition, I also carry other insurance and wonder if I have enough of it to cover me if any major medical problem arises.

Mrs. E. L., Mich.

Dear Mrs. L.:

Only the other day I passed by the admitting room of my hospital and saw the scale of rates. It terrified me. It reemphasized the fact that without your kind of insurance, any medical calamity can wipe out the life savings of almost everyone.

I gather by the amount of insurance you carry that your concern is unfounded. If you are fearful, I would discuss this matter with one of the administrators in your local hospital. He, in conjunction with your own lawyer or insurance broker, can supply you with the added assurance you need.

I feel it is wise for people to give thought to such needs long before a major illness occurs.

Religious Sect Deaths Studied

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — Elkhart County Prosecutor Michael A. Cosentino says he is frustrated by the inability to make a case against members of a religious sect, whose babies and mothers have died in childbirth.

Six such deaths this year, the latest Sunday, has been linked to the Glory Barn Faith Assembly. Members reject medical care as contrary to teachings in the Bible.

Another death was linked to the Church of God Universal, which shares the view.

"To me, it appears there may be negligence on someone's part," Cosentino said Thursday. "The problem I have is finding any criminal statutory authority to bring criminal charges against anyone."

Coroner F. W. Bigler said the latest death was at least partly the result of inexperience.

Henry Lee was a Revolutionary War hero, a member of the Continental Congress, and governor of Virginia, 1792-95.

industrial relations with RCA and they have two daughters, Pamela and Karen. Her activities include president of Pickaway Plains LaSertoma, membership chairman of Circleville Junior Women's Club and Child Development League. The Kowalski's are members of the Trinity Lutheran Church.

The Pre-School Class is designed for children who will be four years of age by September 30.

This is a well planned pre-kindergarten program with emphasis placed on social, physical, emotional and mental development and on learning colors, numbers to 30, basic shapes, writing numbers to ten and learning the alphabet.

This class is taught by Mrs. Robert Scranton and Mrs. Andrew Maze.

Mrs. Scranton and Mrs. Maze are beginning their fourth year with the YMCA pre-school.

Mrs. Scranton is a graduate of Ohio Northern university with a B.A. in education. She has taught four years in Painesville Township school system and four years of first grade with Circleville school system. She presently is L.D.B.D. afternoon tutor for Circleville City schools.

Mrs. Scranton resides on Cedar Heights road with her husband, Bob, who is a registered pharmacist, Bingman's Pharmacy, and children Bobby, Beth and Janet. She is a charter member of Circleville LaSertoma, past president of Delta Kappa Gamma, 10 year girl scout leader and member of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Prof Needs Help As Problem Drinker

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading you for 20 years and have used your common-sense answers to some of life's knottiest problems in teaching my students. (I am a professor in a medical school.)

I have been very successful in the field of mental health, but I can do for others what I can't do for myself.

My problem is one of alcoholism and there is no relief in sight. Your article about the man whose sister got drunk and telephoned him at all hours of the night hit home with me because I've done that hundreds of times. I would hope that the sober man would show some compassion for his alcoholic sister because I know so well the hell she lives in.

Abby, have any of your readers had a successful escape from alcoholism?

LIVING, BUT DEAD

DEAR LIVING: Yes! And the highest rate of successes has been with those who have sought help through Alcoholics Anonymous. (And for the spouse or friend of the alcoholic, Al-Anon, and for the children, Alateen.) I know I am beginning to sound like a broken record, but I cannot say enough for this wonderful non-profit organization.

There are chapters in nearly every city, and they're listed in your telephone directory. If you've given them a try and failed, try again. It's no crime to fail-only to quit trying.

DEAR ABBY: When I travel, I like to take my dog with me, which presents a problem because not all hotels allow dogs.

I recently stopped at a hotel where I was made welcome with my pet, and I saw this framed "notice" hanging in the lobby. It tickled me and if it tickles you, maybe you'll run it in your column.

"Dogs are welcome in this hotel. We never had a dog that smoked in bed and set fire to the blankets. We never had a dog who stole our towels, played the TV too loud or had a noisy fight with his traveling companion. We never had a dog that got drunk and broke up the furniture. So if your dog can vouch for you, you're welcome, too.

DOG LOVER

DEAR DOG LOVER: I've been tickled by a version of that notice, but in case some readers haven't, I'll run it. Thanks for a well-deserved tribute to man's best friend.

DEAR ABBY: I met a very attractive, eligible widower last winter, and we've been keeping steady company since.

My only complaint is the way he keeps talking all the time about Mildred, his deceased wife. I never talk about my deceased husband. Outside of that, we get along just fine.

He has asked to marry me, but this is the way he proposed to me: "How would you like to take Mildred's place?"

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: If he has a sense of humor, tell him that since Mildred is in the cemetery, you don't want to take her place. But if he wants a new life and a new wife, you'll consider it providing he quits talking about Mildred.

Tigers Handed Tough Loss By Chillicothe

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Extra point conversions turned out to be the difference in the ball game as Chillicothe dropped a hard-fought 16-14 decision to Chillicothe before a large opening night crowd at Tiger Stadium Friday.

Both teams scored a pair of touchdowns but the Cavaliers pushed across a pair of two-point conversions while the Tigers failed to dent the goal line in their two attempts for two-point extra points. The Tigers final two points came in the closing stage of the game on a safety.

Circleville won everything but the ball game as they rolled up 11 first downs to five for the Cavaliers. The Tigers picked up a total of 218 net yards while the Cavaliers ran up 89.

The Tigers tough tailback Frank Merrill was the big gainer in the game as he ran, raced and romped for 162 yards in 32 carries. He was backed by Dave Marshall who gained 23 yards and Joe Leahy who slammed his way for 11.

Robbie Kinney was the workhorse for Chillicothe with 53 yards while Mike Fairrow added 26.

A lot of credit has to go to the boys on the front line for the Tigers who continually got off the ball in a hurry and opened nice holes for the backs to fire through.

But, nothing can be taken away from the fine defensive unit of the Tigers who turned out to be mean as a guy with a two-day hangover and a nagging wife.

The hard-nosed defenders were led by Bryan Price, Earl Stevenson, Dave Marshall, Frank Merrill, Paul Hefelfinger and Bo Barthelmas who continually battered and blasted the Cavalier ball carriers.

Fairrows scored the first Cavalier touchdown on a pass interception in the second quarter and again in the third period on a two-yard plunge by Robbie Kinney.

The Tiger's scoring came on a one-yard blast by Frank Merrill on the last play of the first half, a six-yard pass from Brad Allison to Tom McGuire in the fourth quarter and a safety with 1:16 left in the ball game.

After a scoreless first quarter, Chillicothe failed to move the ball in their opening possession in the second period and were forced to punt, giving the Tigers the ball on their own 34-yard line.

But, fate suddenly turned against the Tigers and they drew two consecutive penalties—a 15-yarder for holding and a five-yard walk-off for delay of game.

This set the Tigers back to their own 14 and two plays later, Chillicothe's Fairrow picked off a Circleville aerial in the left flat and waltzed 18 yards to paydirt without being touched. Quarterback Brent Shonkwiler connected with Jeff Kern for a two-point conversion and the Cavaliers led 8-0 with 6:10 left in the half.

However, the Tigers showed what they are made of as they took the kickoff and began a drive that covered 69 yards in 18 plays and ended with Frank Merrill blasting into the end zone from the one-yard line with no time left on the clock.

Allison hit Marshall with a short flip but the hard running back was stopped just inches short of the goal line. The teams went to the locker room with the scoreboard reading 8-6.

Chillicothe took the second half kickoff and put together their only real offensive drive of the night—But it was a good one.

They began a drive from their own 37-yard line which covered 63 yards in 20 plays and paid off with six points when Kinney cracked over from the two yard line. The drive was well executed and hurt the Tigers—not only by the score—but the Cavaliers consumed 9:30 of the third quarter in the move.

Shonkwiler rolled out to his left on a quarterback keeper and put two more points on the board to give Chillicothe a 14-6 lead with 2:27 still showing on the clock.

But, once again Circleville showed their merit as they took the kickoff and moved 73 yards in 12 plays to score on a six-yard pass from Allison to McGuire to make the score 16-12 at 9:52 of the fourth frame. The drive was featured by some great break away running by Merrill. Allison came up just short of the goal line on the conversion try.

With 1:16 remaining in the game, the Cavaliers were forced into a punting situation on their own 11-yard line. The snap from center sailed over the kickers head and went into the endzone. Despite the effort of three or four Tigers Jeff Kern was able to get back and recover the ball in the endzone for a safety, giving the Cavaliers a 16-14 edge and a free kick from the 20-yard line.

Two plays later the Cavaliers intercepted a Circleville aerial and that was all she wrote.

"Football is a game of inches and it was proven tonight as we missed at two conversion attempts by inches and had a good drive stopped by inches in the fourth quarter," Circleville coach Larry Cook stated.

"We may have lost a tough ball game but we found out that we have a great bunch of kids who showed us what they are made of tonight. They could have quit at anytime but they never gave up. We are extremely proud of them and the poise they displayed and believe me—we are going to have a real ball club," Cook said.

The Tigers will have another tough one next Friday when coach Dick Kidwell brings his Teays Valley Vikings into Roundtown for a big county battle.

Twins Trample Royals, 18-3

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

When Whitey Herzog was thrown out of the game in the third inning he knew it was going to be bad night—but he didn't know how bad.

At the time his Kansas City Royals were only behind by a merciful 4-0 score. But before it was over, the Minnesota Twins scored 14 more runs for an embarrassing 18-3 victory over the failing American League West leaders.

Winning has been a problem for the Royals of late. They have lost 10 of their last 12 and have lost most of their lead in the West.

The strain of recent weeks possibly caught up with Herzog Friday night. He argued about a close play at third and as a result, was kicked out by umpire Russ Goetz.

The fates weren't completely unkind to Herzog, though. The second-place Oakland A's had a chance to gain ground on the Royals, but threw away a two-run lead in the 10th inning and lost a 5-4 decision to the Texas Rangers.

Kansas City's lead, once at a mighty 12 games, remained at five.

While the Royals and A's seemed uninterested in winning the West pennant, the New York Yankees moved a step closer to wrapping up the East. The Yankees whipped the Milwaukee Brewers 6-4 and reduced their "magic number" for clinching the title to 12.

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Cleveland Indians 4-3; the Detroit Tigers blanked the Boston Red Sox 1-0 in a game called after five innings by rain and the California Angels stopped the Chicago White Sox 3-2.

Our Coala Winner Of Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Our Coala surged into the lead at the finish to nip White Knight by 1½ lengths in the featured race at Scioto Downs Friday night.

The winner, trotting the mile in 2:03 1-5, returned $23.60, $6 and $3.60. White Knight paid $3.20 and $3 for second and Moonlight Music, $3 for show.

The 4-6 daily double combination of Linworth Time and Ebb Direct was worth $76.80.

A crowd of 4,882 wagered $316,628.

Tiger Golfers Lose To Chillicothe

The Circleville High School golf team slipped to a 1-3 season record Friday, losing to Chillicothe, 153-168, at Pickaway Country Club.

Adkins and Gaston of Chillicothe tied for medal honors with rounds of 37.

For Circleville Dave Wylie carded the low score, a 39. He collected six pars enroute to his low score. Mike McKelvey parred five holes and birdied one, but wound up with a 40. Mike Hamilton shot a 44 which included three pars, Eric Berger a 45 including three pars and Richard Pfeleeger a 47 with two pars.

The Tiger B squad won its match with Chillicothe, edging the visitors by two strokes, 181-183.

For Circleville, Jeff Meena and Scott Sanders each shot 43, Fred Palm 46, Dan DeFrank 49 and Brett Sherman 51.

Today Circleville travels to Walnut Hill Country Club in Columbus to participate in the Top Eight Tournament, the best eight teams in the AA Central District last year.

Monday the Tigers play at London Country Club with Madison Plains.

Armstrong Top Runner?

CINCINNATI (AP) — With O.J. Simpson apparently out of the picture, who will emerge as the National Football League's top runner in 1976?

Otis Armstrong of the Denver Broncos is the most logical contender, says two former NFL All-Pro defenders now with the Cincinnati Bengals.

Armstrong, who led the American Football Conference in rushing two years ago with 1407 yards, faces the Bengals Sunday in an NFL opener.

"Next to O.J. Simpson, I felt two years ago that Otis Armstrong was the best runner as far as little men go," said 300-pound Bob Brown, a former standout with the Green Bay Packers. "They were 1-2."

"But now, of course, O.J. isn't in the business, so I'd say this guy is perhaps THE best runner in the game," said Brown, who at 36 is the oldest member on the Bengals.

Teammate Coy Bacon, once a member of Los Angeles Rams' "Fearsome Foursome," rates Armstrong, a 5-10½, 195-pounder, as a bona fide breakaway threat every time he touches the ball.

Syracuse Chiefs Advance In Playoffs

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Syracuse Chiefs hoped to put a quick end to the Richmond Braves tonight after Jerry Maddox's three-run homer gave the Braves a 5-4 victory and a shot at the International League championship.

Maddox's homer in the sixth proved to be the winning hit for the Braves, who had lost the first two games of the best-in-five series.

CIRCLEVILLE

Vikings Top Braves In County Tilt

By CRAIG ALLISON
Herald Sports Writer

It was a gutsy Logan Elm football team that marched into Ashville Friday night, but their inexperience showed as they dropped their 1976 premiere to the host Teays Valley Vikings to the tune of 18-0.

Old Man Weather arrived on time in Ashville too, and when the football took its first flight of the evening at 8 p.m. it was evident that good, hot coffee was going to be a best-seller at the vending stands. Skies were clear, but the temperature took a sharp dip to remind the near capacity crowd that football season was indeed here.

Viking head mentor Dick Kidwell had the following appraisal of the evening's events:

"I think we controlled the ball game very well, especially the line of scrimmage, and that's what counts. While most everyone put in a good performance up front, I'd have to single out Joe Berger, Scott Rader, and Lance Reese for their work all evening on the line of scrimmage. These men had an outstanding game. I also think that Duane Keller did a superb job in his first game at quarterback." The Viking coach also stated that his charges met all the team goals on defense.

Right from the start it was clear that both teams meant business, as Teays Valley marched downfield to score on their opening series, and Logan Elm gave up the real estate very grudgingly.

Starting after the opening kickoff on their own 39 yard line, the Vikings picked up three first downs enroute to their first touchdown, which occurred with 6:32 showing on the stadium clock. The honor of the first score of 1976 went to Craig Ramey. The Viking back was escorted into paydirt by Mike Houser and Ray Nardi, who were instrumental in clearing his path.

The two teams fought tooth and nail after that, trading the ball back and forth until Teays Valley recovered a Logan Elm fumble on the Braves' 20-yard line. The Vikings moved to within one yard of crossing the goal line when they became a little too tense and jumped offside. The penalty moved the ball back to the Braves' six-yard line, but undaunted, Keller dropped back with the pigskin, set up, and fired a perfect strike to Rick Queen in the end zone to give the Norsemen another six point tally.

As with the first conversion attempt, the second went for nought, and with 3:21 blinking on the scoreboard, it read Teays Valley 12 and the Braves 0. The clock stated that way when the two squads left the field for the intermission.

The final tally of the evening came with 4:22 left in the third quarter. Again the Vikings chose to go to their, and when Keller tossed the pigskin this

Southern Cal Faces Clash With Missouri

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

John Robinson hasn't coached his first game yet at Southern California but he knows all about Missouri's propensity for upsets and he doesn't want to be shown.

Robinson steps into John McKay's highly successful shoes as the eighth-ranked Trojans open their season tonight against Missouri's giant-killers at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The game is part of an attractive night program which includes top-rated Nebraska at Louisiana State, sixth-ranked Alabama against once-beaten Mississippi at Jackson, Miss., No. 7 Texas at Boston College, No. 13 Arkansas against Utah State at Little Rock, Ark., and No. 18 Florida against North Carolina at Tampa, Fla.

In day games, second-ranked Michigan entertained Wisconsin, Michigan State was at fourth-ranked Ohio State, fifth-ranked Oklahoma's defending national champions at Vanderbilt, ninth-ranked Pitt at No. 11 Notre Dame, Stanford at No. 10 Penn State, Richmond at No. 12 Maryland, Virginia Tech at No. 14 Texas A&M, No. 15 California at No. 16 Georgia, Washington State at No. 19 Kansas and No. 20 Miami of Ohio at Marshall.

In a rare Thursday night game, 17th-ranked UCLA upset third-ranked Arizona State 28-10 as halfback Theotis Brown and quarterback Jeff Dankworth piled up 282 yards rushing between them and ran for two touchdowns apiece.

New Mexico State will play five teams from Texas this season. Four of the games are at night.

TOUCHDOWN! — Is quite evident in this picture taken at Viking Stadium Friday night. Somewhere at the bottom of the heap is Craig Ramey, who started from three yards out to cross the goal line. The play capped a Viking march that started on their own 39 yard line. Vikings in the picture agreeing with the referee are Duane Keller (10) and Lance Windon (85). In the pile of humanity are Rick Queen (88) and Mike Houser (79) as the Braves' Brian Hannigan (17) checks out the action.

time it landed in the arms of Eugene Fields. The score covered 19 yards, and Keller attempted to add another two by carrying the ball in himself, but the Braves through otherwise, stopping the signal caller short of the scoring stripe.

As the clock wound down, both teams gave a few of the substitutes a chance to "mix it up", and when the scoreboard finally called it an evening, the final score stood at 18-0 in favor of the Vikings.

Looking ahead to next Friday, the Braves start their search for the 1976 Mid-State League Championship, when they host Berne Union. The Braves are considered a strong darkhorse in the MSL picture this year, and are drawing a good deal of respect from coaches in the loop.

As for the Vikings, few people need to be told that they journey to Roundtown to do battle with Coach Larry Cook's Tigers in an 8 p.m. contest in Tiger Stadium. The evening promises to be one that football fans won't want to miss.

Reds Top Giants, 4-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Don Gullett of the Cincinnati Reds and Bob Knepper of the San Francisco Giants, a couple of left-handers with something to prove, came through with flying colors.

Gullett, bothered much of the season with neck and shoulder problems, pitched seven innings of three-hit baseball and registered his first victory since the All-Star break as the Reds downed the Giants 4-1 Friday night.

Knepper, in his major league debut, allowed the powerful Reds only two runs in his seven-inning stint.

"The win isn't as important to me as the fact that I pitched well," said Gullett, 8-3. "I felt strong and healthy. My mechanics and rhythm were off these first three innings, but then I straightened out and started throwing strikes."

Knepper, who was 14-10 with Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League, also was pleased. "Facing the Reds was a big help," he noted. "It made me concentrate. But I still don't feel I was fluid — I'll do better."

The difference in the game was Pete Rose, who knocked in the Reds' first two runs with a triple and a double. Mike Lum pinch-singled home the other two in the ninth off rookie reliever Tommie Toms.

"Rose's double was a good pitch, low and outside," recalled Knepper, 0-1. "But the triple was on a high school curve, the type of pitch I might get by with in the Coast League."

Rose chuckled over that comment. "The kid pitched some real good ball, but someone should tell him he's not in the Coast League," Pete pointed out.

Bill Plummer's single preceded Rose's two-out triple for a 1-0 lead in the third. Tony Perez' single, Plummer's walk and Rose's two-out double made it 2-0 in the fifth.

Gullett retired 12 Giants in a row before losing his shutout on Chris Speier's leadoff double and pinch-batter Chris Arnold's single in the seventh.

"Gullett wasn't overpowering like he used to be," said Giants slugger Gary Matthews, "but he sure was tough when he had to come up with something."

"This was Don's first start since he missed about a month with that neck problem, so we decided he'd only pitch seven innings," Manager Sparky Anderson explained. "Another two starts and he'll be back where we want him."

Manny Sarmiento and Rawley Eastwick mopped up for the Reds, Eastwick recording his 21st save.

The Philadelphia Phillies gave up on Woodie Fryman in 1972 but now find that the journeyman left-hander is one of their most valuable assets, even though he pitches for the Montreal Expos.

The Phillies lost Fryman on waivers to Detroit in 1972. Luckily for them, the 36-year-old pitcher still has some victories in his ancient arm, especially since four have come against the Pittsburgh Pirates this season.

Fryman's latest victory over Pittsburgh, when he began his major league career in 1966, came Friday night. Fryman tossed a nine-hitter in Montreal's 4-2 triumph.

The loss was the second for the Pirates in their last 15 games and both defeats have been to Fryman, who

Birds Stop Tribe, 4-3

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pitcher Ross Grimsley, finishing strongly after another sporadic season, is convinced he won't be back with the Baltimore Orioles next season.

But Manager Earl Weaver says he doesn't know where the left-hander came up with that idea.

"I expect to be available in the expansion draft at the end of the season," Grimsley said after beating the Cleveland Indians 4-3 Friday night with relief help from Dyar Miller. "If not, I expect to be traded."

"I can't say for sure he'll be back," Weaver countered, "but we've never given him any indication he won't be. We haven't even discussed the expansion list yet. It's too early."

Weaver also noted that Grimsley has won seven of his last nine decisions, and is an experienced major league pitcher at age 26. Both factors, he said, should weigh heavily in Grimsley's favor.

blanked Pittsburgh 1-0 on Sunday.

Meanwhile, the Phillies are thankful for small favors, like Pittsburgh losses, because they dropped their 12th game in their last 14, a 3-2 decision to the Chicago Cubs Friday night.

So the status quo at the top of the National League East standings was maintained, with Philadelphia, ahead by 1 1/2 games Aug. 24, staying five games in front of Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere in the NL, the New York Mets shaded St. Louis 4-3 and Cincinnati downed San Francisco 4-1. The doubleheader between San Diego and Houston and the game between Atlanta and Los Angeles were rained out.

Mets 4, Cards 3

Bud Harrelson's infield single capped a two-run rally in the seventh inning and helped the Mets beat St. Louis. Mickey Lolich, 8-12, picked up the victory with relief help from Skip Lockwood and Bob Apodaca.

Marshall Leads Aces To 40-0 Win

Halfback Mike Marshall scored three long touchdowns and raced for 184 yards to pace Amanda-Clearcreek to a 40-0 opening-season win over Zane Trace Friday.

Marshall, who piled up his yardage in only 11 carries, scored touchdowns on runs of 56, 40, and 38 yards.

Running mate Rick Foster, who plowed for 61 yards in nine carries, scored a touchdown on a 26-yard burst and added four extra point runs.

And Ace quarterback David Marshall added the last six points on a five-yard scamper.

Amanda-Clearcreek piled up 286 total yards in the game, played at Amanda, while limiting Zane Trace to just 139 yards for the contest.

The Aces will open Mid-State League play Friday when they travel to Pickerington.

NFL Opens 57th Season Sunday

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

The Seattle Seahawks and Tampa Bay Buccaneers, newest members of the National Football League family, play their first regular season games Sunday when the NFL opens its 57th season.

For standings purposes, Seattle will play in the National Conference West and Tampa Bay in the American Conference West. And for morale purposes within the league, they will play one game against each of the 13 teams in their conference and one against each other.

The Seahawks begin at home against high-powered St. Louis, one of the favorites in the NFC East. Tampa Bay's opener will be against the Oilers in Houston.

Both new teams have some old names on their rosters. The Buccaneers' starting quarterback will be Steve Spurrier, long-time San Francisco 49er. The Seahawks also have a veteran signal caller in Bill Munson, acquired from Detroit. He probably will back up starter Jim Zorn.

Both new teams open against clubs with title hopes.

The Cardinals have speed to burn in all-purpose scatback Terry Metcalf and wide receiver Mel Gray, as well as NFC rushing champion Jim Otis. Imported to shore up the defense were veteran lineman John Zook and Marvin Upshaw, as well as No. 1 draft choice Mike Dawson and safety Mike Sensibaugh.

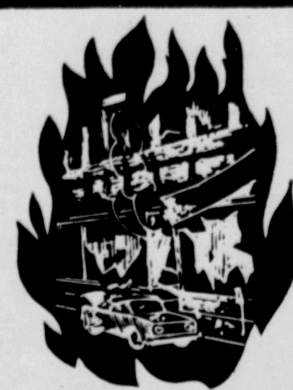

The Oilers enjoyed a 10-4 turnaround season last year that just missed earning them a playoff berth. The preseason was an 0-6 disaster with injuries causing major problems. But most of the wounded have healed, including starting running backs Fred Willis and Ronnie Coleman, both expected to start against the Buccaneers.

Sunday's other openers have Pittsburgh at Oakland in a key AFC contest, Los Angeles at Atlanta, Philadelphia at Dallas, Denver at Cincinnati, Minnesota at New Orleans, the New York Giants at Washington, San Diego at Kansas City, Detroit at Chicago, the New York Jets at Cleveland, Baltimore at New England, and San Francisco at Green Bay. Miami plays at Buffalo Monday night to complete the first week's games.

Second Greatest

LOS ANGELES (AP) - "The Second greatest show on earth" was P.T. Barnum's description of the view from Mt. Washington, named as one of America's top 500 sights to see by the Rand McNally "Traveler's Almanac."

According to the almanac, the highest wind speed ever clocked in the U.S. (231 miles per hour) was measured by a private weather research station atop the 6,288-foot-high peak near Pinkham Notch in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

Boat State

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - The number of licensed boats in Minnesota reach an all-time peak of 453,333 as of January 1976, up by 9,000 from a year earlier.

There are 360,841 motorized boats, 76,330 canoes, 14,535 sailboats and 1,627 non-motorized boats in Minnesota.

With one boat licensed for every 8.9 persons, boat ownership in the state is the highest per capita in the nation, a spokesman for the Department of Natural Resources said.

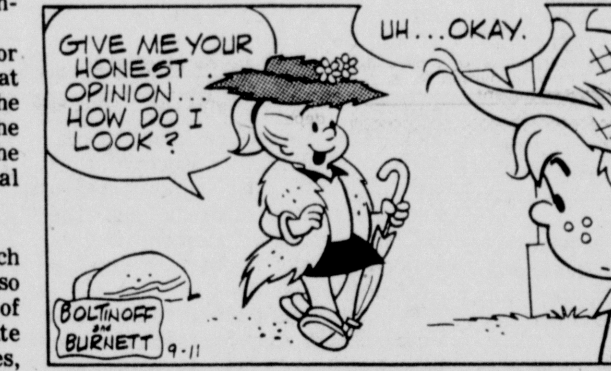

Beach wormwood, which grows beside ponds, is also called dusty miller because of the densely matted white hairs that cover its leaves, says the National Geographic Society.

Ohio High Court Issues Rulings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A convicted child abuser cannot be forbidden from bearing children during her probation, according to a court decision the Supreme Court allowed to stand on Friday.

The court rejected a challenge to a ruling by the 6th District Court of Appeals which said the right to bear children is protected by the constitutional right to privacy.

The state, which pressed the challenge, argued that under certain circumstances the state is warranted in interfering with a woman's right to bear children.

The case before the court involved Mittie Rose Livingston, a 20-year-old unmarried Lucas County woman who pleaded guilty to child abuse last year.

In another case, the court let stand a decision that bars damage claims against Columbus Coated Fabrics by employees injured by dangerous chemicals.

The plaintiffs in the case—63 of the more than 120 workers who contracted peripheral neuropathy, a nerve disease—were told by the lower courts they cannot sue the company because they are covered by workmen's compensation.

The Supreme Court dismissed their appeal on its own motion, saying they had raised no substantial constitutional question.

State law provides that employers must contribute to compensation funds for their employees, and that employees can receive a pension for industrial accidents. The law says the pension is granted in lieu of any court actions against an employer.

In other decisions Friday, the court: —Allowed a lower court decision to stand which overturned a restriction on parking recreational vehicles. The court refused to hear the City of Euclid's appeal from a lower court decision finding the restrictive zoning ordinance unconstitutional.

The ordinance forbade parking the motor homes and camping trailers in residential areas unless they were in a garage. The ordinance applied to recreational vehicles parked in their owners' yards.

—Refused to hear a challenge to the constitutionality of a Canton city ordinance setting an 11 p.m. closing time for amusement arcades.

The court rejected an appeal by James Tedrick, operator of the Sales and Service Co. of Canton, who argued that the ordinance imposed discriminatory and capricious restrictions on his business.

—Dismissed a challenge to the right of Ohio State University and the OSU Faculty Club to sell beer and liquor on campus.

The high court rejected on appeal by 35 individuals and campus area liquor license holders who wanted the university and the faculty club ruled ineligible for a liquor license.

Police Investigate Theft

Circleville Police are investigating an apparent grand theft that occurred at Bert's Bar Friday.

According to the report, Fred Garner, an employee at the bar, told police that after the bar had closed and the money was counted, $500 was discovered missing. The incident is still under investigation by Ptl. Jim Ford.

UNUSUAL — Della Lemmings, who will be 87-years-old Monday, has never grown or seen anything as unusual as her cucumber crop this year. The long skinny one measures 18 inches and will be wonderful when pickled she says. While the others are siamese grown together at the base she raised them in her Williamsport garden.

for a nonstop flight to Europe. Canadian officials said the hijackers' ultimate destination was Yugoslavia. Yugoslav authorities, however, said today they had received no requests for permission to land.

Canadian officials said the hijackers' ultimate destination was Yugoslavia. Yugoslav authorities, however, said today they had received no requests for permission to land.

The pilot of the hijacked plane said one hijacker, armed with a bomb, was in the cockpit. The pilot told air traffic controllers that the hijackers said they were prepared to die if their demands were not met.

The U.S. Federal Aviation Administration said there were six hijackers, but the pilot said he was not sure of their number.

The plane was commandeered about 120 miles southwest of Montreal at 8:19 p.m. EDT, about a half-hour after it took off from New York's La Guardia Airport. It refueled in Montreal, then took off for Gander in northeastern Canada, where it refueled again. The 727 would have to stop for fuel in Iceland in order to get to Europe, a TWA spokesman said.

The communique, invoking the United States' fight for freedom from Britain 200 years ago, denounced the government of Yugoslavia and pressed separatist demands for creation of a Croatian state.

The hijacking was the first time in 16 months that a commercial airliner was hijacked in the United States. That attempt ended when the unarmed hijacker surrendered to the FBI after the plane stopped in Atlanta.

After a series of hijackings in the early 1970s, the federal government ordered tight security precautions at U.S. airports.

It was not known how the hijackers of TWA's Flight 355 eluded security checks at New York's La Guardia Airport Friday night. A TWA spokesman said the normal precautions were in effect: X-raying carryon luggage and using metal-detecting devices on passengers.

But the spokesman said some kinds of explosives, such as plastic explosives, might not be detected by those devices.

An air traffic controller said that when the plane stopped in Montreal to refuel, the pilot radioed that a hijacker with a bomb was with him in the cockpit.

Nicole Viau, supervisor of air traffic operations at Montreal's Mirabel Airport, said the pilot "kept emphasizing there was one hijacker in the cockpit with a bomb ready to explode by just pressing a button."

According to Miss Viau, the pilot said the hijacker told him that he and his comrades "knew the penalty for hijacking but ... were ready to die if their demands were not respected."

New York City police, following detailed instructions from the hijackers, found the unexploded bomb in a coin locker in a subway station at grand Central Station at 10:15 p.m. E.D.T.

A bomb squad took the bomb, which was inside a pressure cooker, to a police firing range. It exploded when police tried to disarm it.

Juvenile Court Hears 6 Cases

The Pickaway County Juvenile Court processed one traffic and five additional cases this week.

James Henry, 17, 153 E. Water St., was charged with a stop sign violation. He was fined $20, with $10 suspended, his license was suspended for five weeks, and he was ordered to attend traffic school.

A 16-year-old boy, charged with breaking and entering, was sentenced to temporary care of the Ohio Youth Commission (OYC), with sentence suspended, given three years probation, ordered restitution within 60 days and not to associate with one certain person.

A 14-year-old girl, charged with petty theft, was given a suspended sentence to the OYC, one year probation, 50 community work hours, and restricted from one certain premise.

A 16 year-old-boy was ordered to remain in custody of the Pickaway County Children Services, and given three years of probation.

A school truancy charge given to a 15-year-old boy was dismissed after three years of probation.

The courts assigned temporary custody to a 15-year-old boy.

YMCA Indian Princesses Open House Set

Fathers don't just have sons. Sometimes they have daughters. Which is why the Pickaway County Family YMCA is offering a special program for fathers and their six-to-nine year old daughters, James Stoneburner, Kispoko Longhouse Chief said today.

"The program is call YMCA Indian Princesses and its purpose is to provide opportunities for understanding, companionship and respect between fathers and daughters," he said.

Stoneburner pointed out that Indian Princess clubs were being formed at the YMCA this month and that fathers with daughters in that age bracket are being encouraged to attend the Open house at the YMCA 2 p.m. Sunday. Additionally Big Braves of the Y-Indian Guides and Princess tribe are visiting local school.

An outgrowth of the Y's father and son program Y Indian Guides, Y Indian Princess clubs usually consist of six-to-nine fathers and their daughters who meet regularly in members' homes on a rotating basis.

"The members plan much of the program themselves," he said. Typical activities include crafts, hiking, camping trips, cookouts, stories, games, Indian Lore.

The Y Indian Guide program, from which all other YMCA Parent-Child groups emerged, was started by a YMCA director, Harold Keltner, of St. Louis. The idea was triggered by conversations he has with an Ojibway Indian friend, Joe Friday, about the closeness of Indian fathers and their sons. "The white man," said Friday "builds cities. The red man builds sons."

"All the Parent-Child programs have grown dramatically in the past decade," Stoneburner said. "Last year alone, 1,458 new Y Indian Princess and Y Indian Maiden clubs were formed across the United States."

For more information on Y Indian Princesses, visit the Y or call 477-1661.

Cav Fan Jailed By Deputy

A Chillicothe man, who disobeyed an order by Deputy Sheriff Jim Dixon, was charged with failure to disperse following an incident at the Circleville-Chillicothe football game at the Circleville High School Friday night.

Mark Edward Bayless, 20, 32 W. Seventh St., Chillicothe, bonded out of the Pickaway County Jail about midnight. He will answer the charge Monday morning in Circleville Municipal Court.

The incident occurred about 9:50 p.m., according to Deputy Dixon's report, when about five Chillicothe fans became involved in an argument with Circleville supporters.

Following a brief altercation, the Chillicothe fans, who were joined by about seven other people, apparently tried to shove their way through a crowd of people to the fence which surrounds the field.

A large crowd of Circleville followers apparently circled the group of Chillicothe fans, and Deputy Dixon, apparently fearing a fight, asked the Cavalier fans to return to their seats.

Bayless was the only Chillicothe fan who did not obey, apparently telling the deputy he was not leaving. Deputy Dixon escorted him halfway to the visitor's side and then returned to disperse the Circleville fans.

But Bayless apparently returned and was arrested.
